A LITTLE ALLEY HISTORY

Our story begins in 1901 when my grandfather, Achille Vincienzo Salvatore Greco, (a.k.a. Pa) was chased out of Calabria, Italy by my great-grandfather after Pa dumped a wheel barrel of wet cement into the family garden. Pa hopped the first boat to America and settled in a small steel town alley in Southwestern Pennsylvania. Pa married my grandmother, Liz Costa, and together they had nine daughters and two sons.

The alley was a special place filled with grapevines and fruit trees, and where the sentiment “cooked for an army” was commonplace and true. Years later, as work took many away from the alley, my mother remained there. Some of my favorite childhood memories are the times when the rest of the family made a special trip to visit the alley. As platters of gnocchi, ravioli and rigatoni were tossed around like frisbees, we laughed and yelled above the A.M. radio tunes.

We didn't have a whole lot of disposable income growing up, but Ma always had the resources to cook for others. . In good times and bad, when someone was ill or someone got married, Ma found a way to make a spread. During that time, I asked her why she didn't charge people for the food. She replied with a pretty stern, “You don't charge people at times like this, it's just what you do.” And so, with my mom in mind, along with my love for our alley and the people who populated it, I want to honor and continue their tradition of offering the freshest ingredients, the best piping hot food, the coldest drinks and a feeling of togetherness. Yeah, I may have to charge a little. I know Ma said “You don't charge people...” but she lived in an alley, what did she know?! Welcome to The Alley. Pull up a chair and share your story.
